BRIDGING ANCIENT WISDOM & MODERN SCIENCE

JOURNAL AIMS, SCOPE & THEMATIC FOCUS

About the SESB

SESB is an interdisciplinary, peer-reviewed journal dedicated to advancing research at the intersection of ethnopharmacology, ecological stewardship, sustainability science, and modern pharmacology through a systems-thinking lens. SESB aligns with the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs), and encourages rigorous, ethical, and community-centered research that strengthens both scientific credibility and ecological responsibility.

Scope

SESB aims to publish research that contributes to:

- Scientific evaluation and validation of traditional medicine systems
 - Sustainable use, conservation, and governance of bioresources
- Translational pathways linking ethnopharmacological knowledge to modern healthcare
 - Systems-level, integrative, and data-driven research approaches

Key Thematic Areas

- Ethnopharmacology and traditional medicine systems
- Natural products, medicinal plants, and bioactive compounds
 - Sustainability science and bioresource management
- Systems biology, network pharmacology, and integrative methodologies
 - Artificial intelligence and data analytics in ethnopharmacology
 - Policy, regulation, ethics, and governance of traditional medicine
